

SMART GROCER

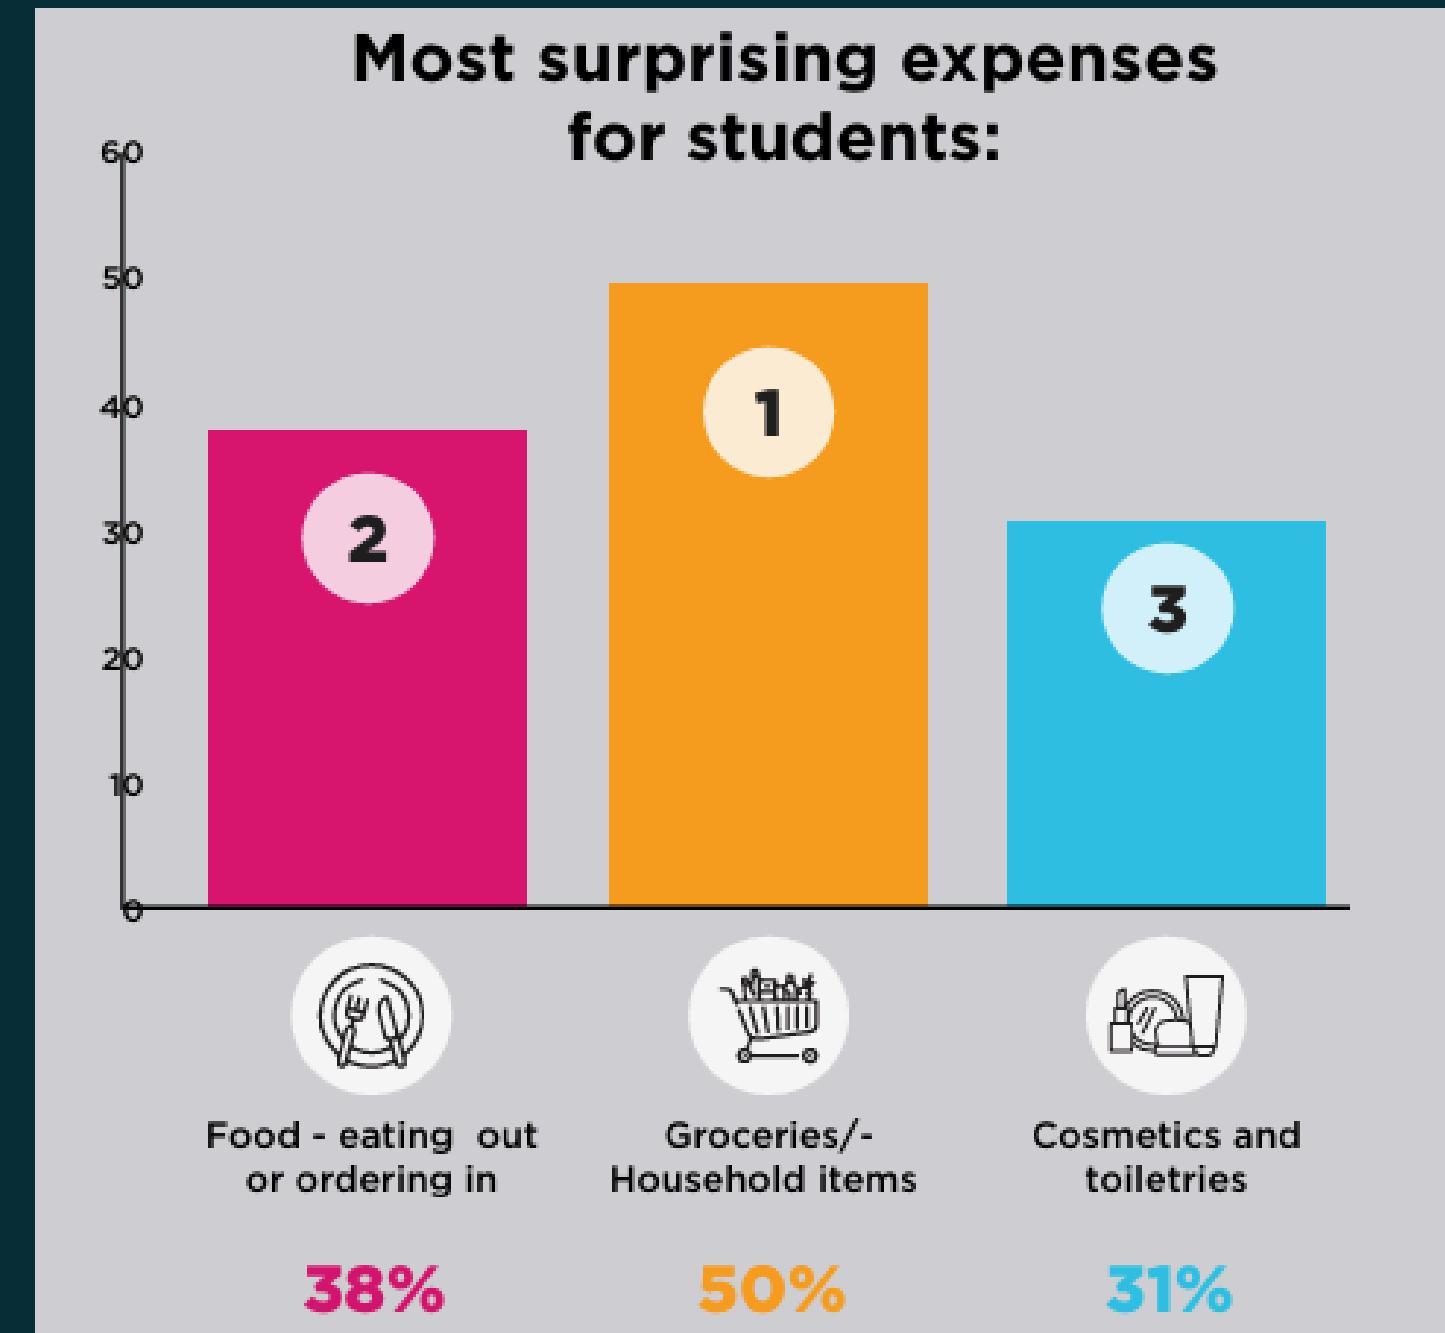

"Prevention is better cure"

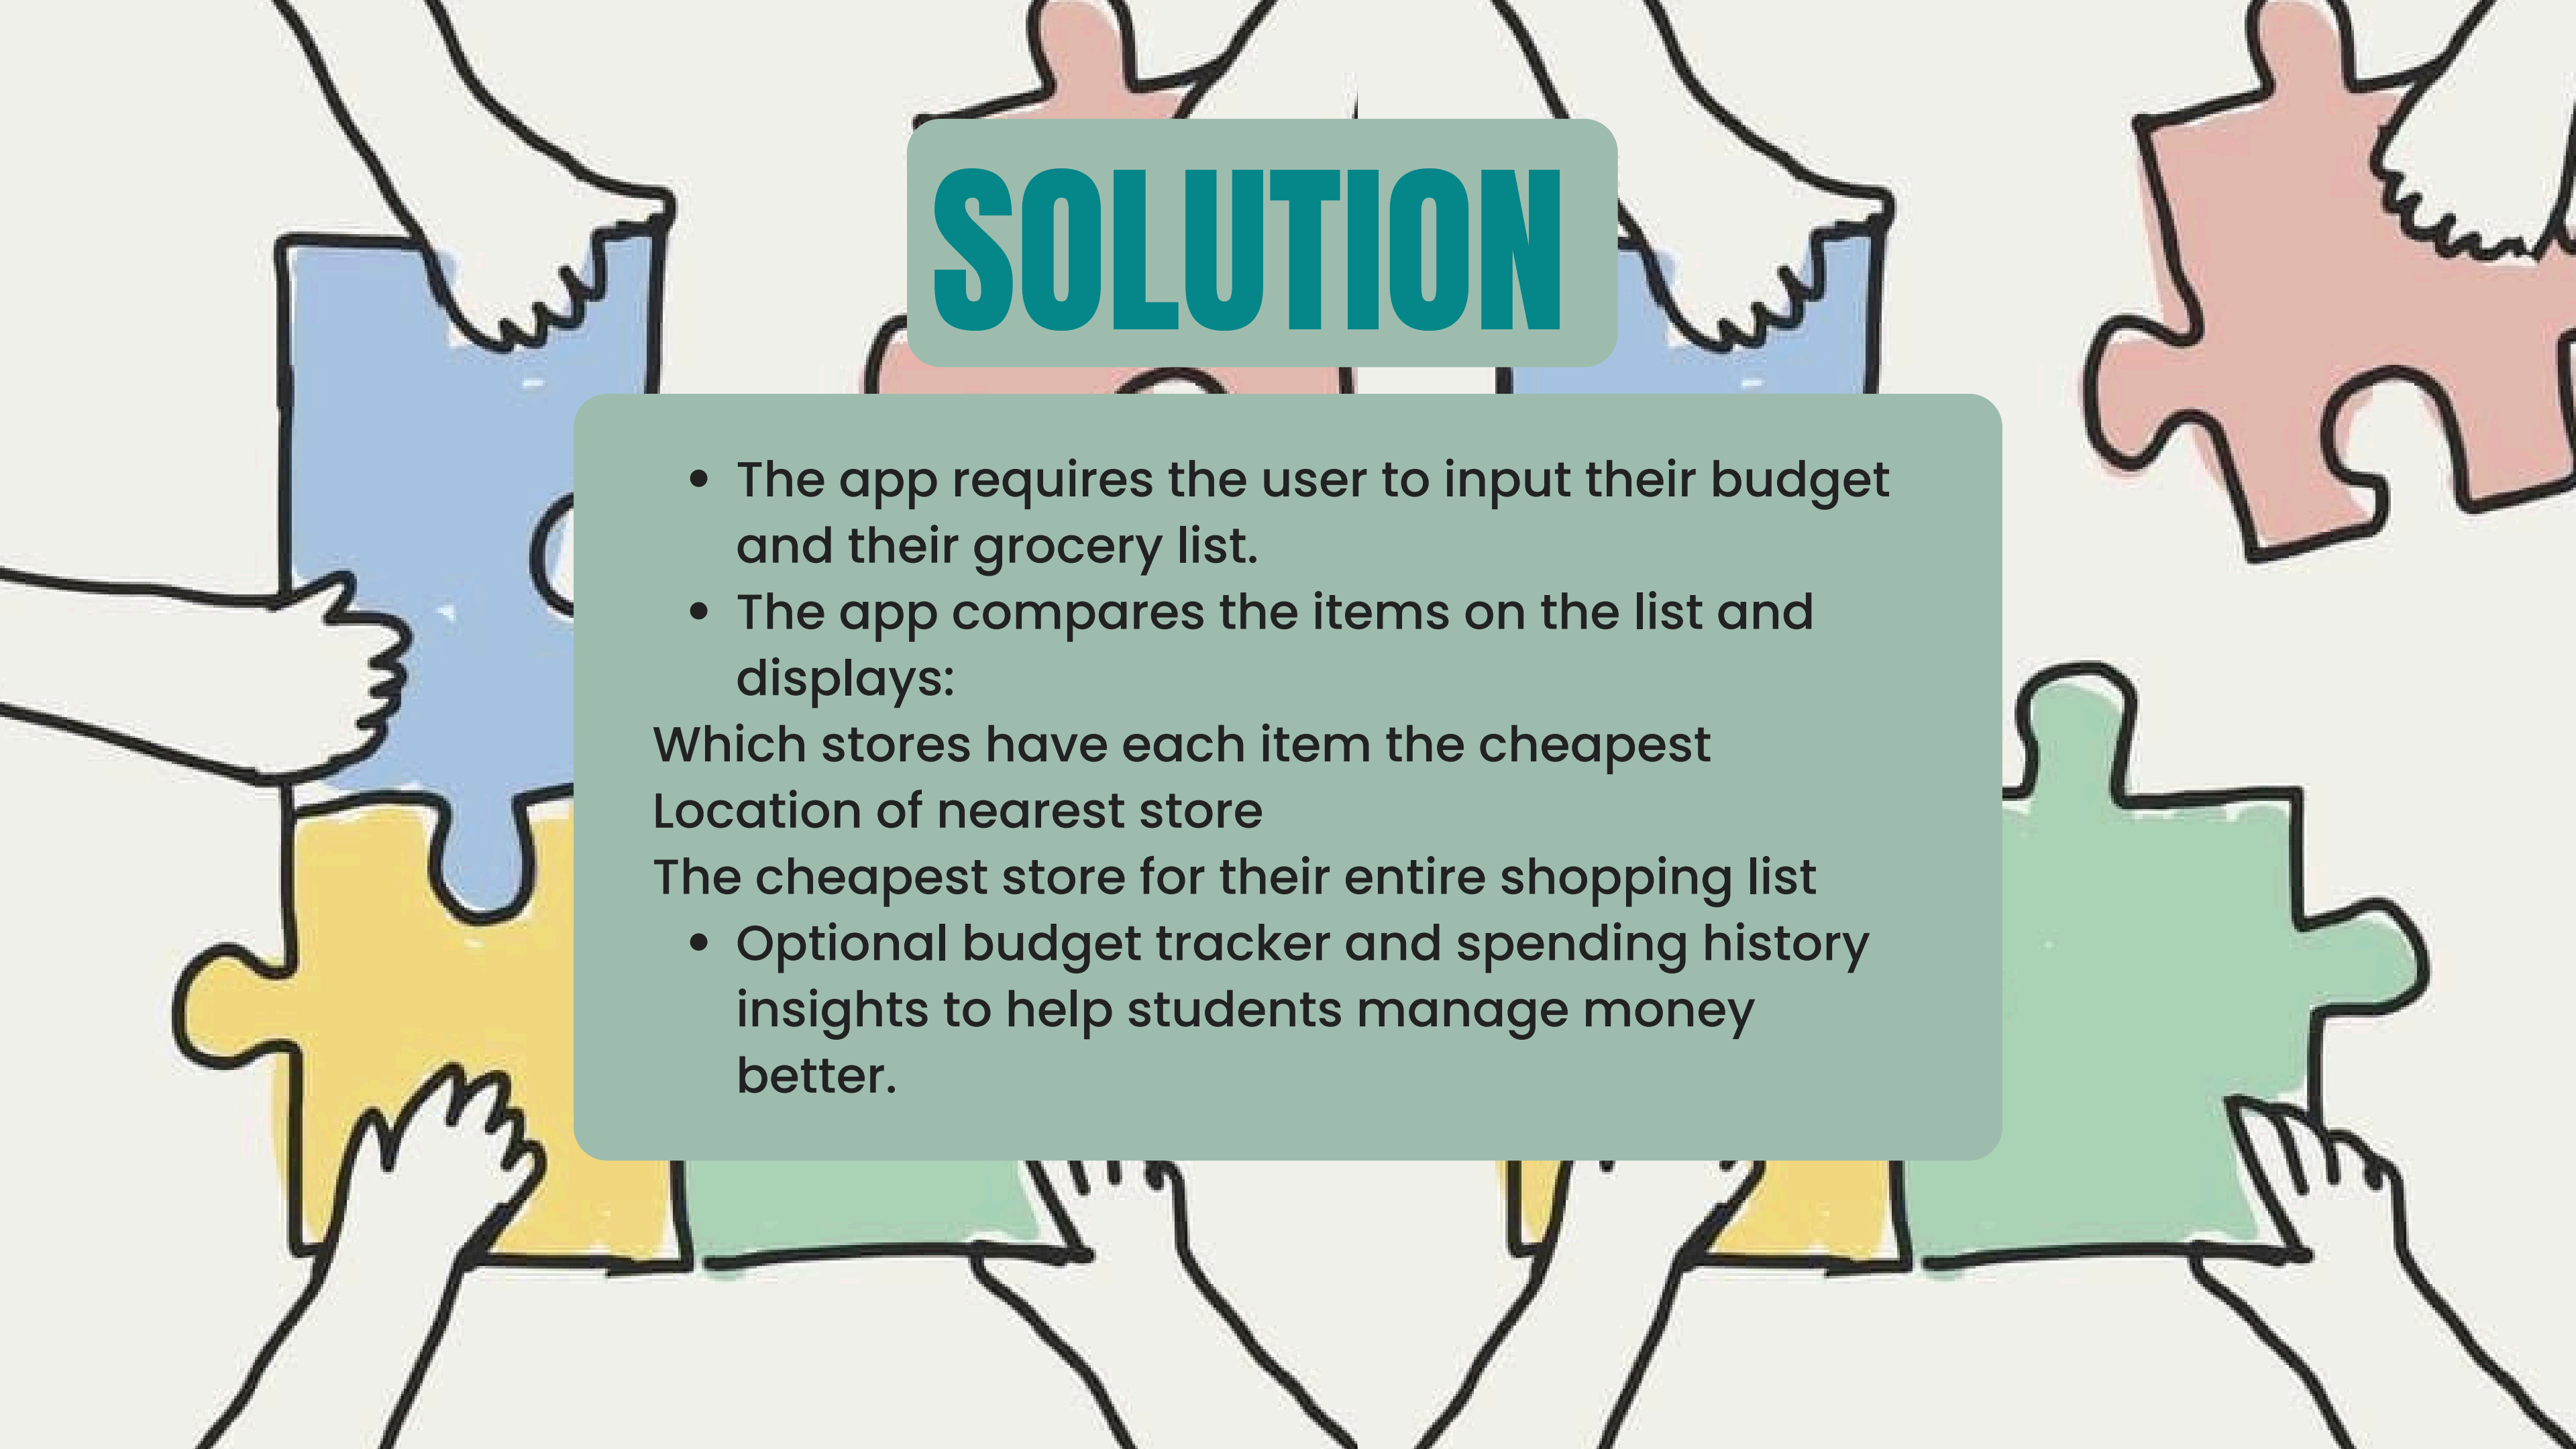

STATS

Groceries & household items cost a lot
Students spend on average R1,701/month on groceries & household items. Nearly 50% report that category consumes most of their budget.
[From the Varsity Vibe 2024 Student Spend Survey (18,819 respondents)]

- 78% don't know how to budget properly.
 - 52% have a budget but do not always stick to it.
 - Only 22% both have a budget and follow it.
- [From a survey by Old Mutual among TVET students (ages ~18-25):
]

SOLUTION

- The app requires the user to input their budget and their grocery list.
- The app compares the items on the list and displays:

Which stores have each item the cheapest

Location of nearest store

The cheapest store for their entire shopping list

- Optional budget tracker and spending history insights to help students manage money better.

EXISTING ALTERNATIVES

Current solutions are fragmented, time consuming or don't cover local student friendly stores

- Manual price checking
Physically going to stores:
Time consuming
- Online catalogues:
They are scattered and not updated together.
- Other apps:
Troli: Inefficient and you have to compare prices yourself

Manual check

Online Catalogues

Buget Apps

REVENUE STREAMS

Affiliate commissions from partnered local vendors:

Our app drives students to local stores while helping vendors go digital. Featured products reach a targeted student audience, purchases generate a small commission supporting the app, and vendors gain online visibility and tools — creating a win-win for students, stores, and our platform

START UP COST:

- Development & Design – R60,000/month
- OCR /AI Hosting & Processing – R10,000–R25,000/month
- Cloud Storage & Database – R2,000–R8,000/month
- Marketing & Outreach – R5,000–R20,000/month
- Partnerships & Data Maintenance – R5,000–R20,000/month

SCALABILITY

- Text to speech: Accessible for visually impaired
- integrate Ikhokha debit card: Students earn points for discounts when using these cards at local stores encouraging and expanding user base